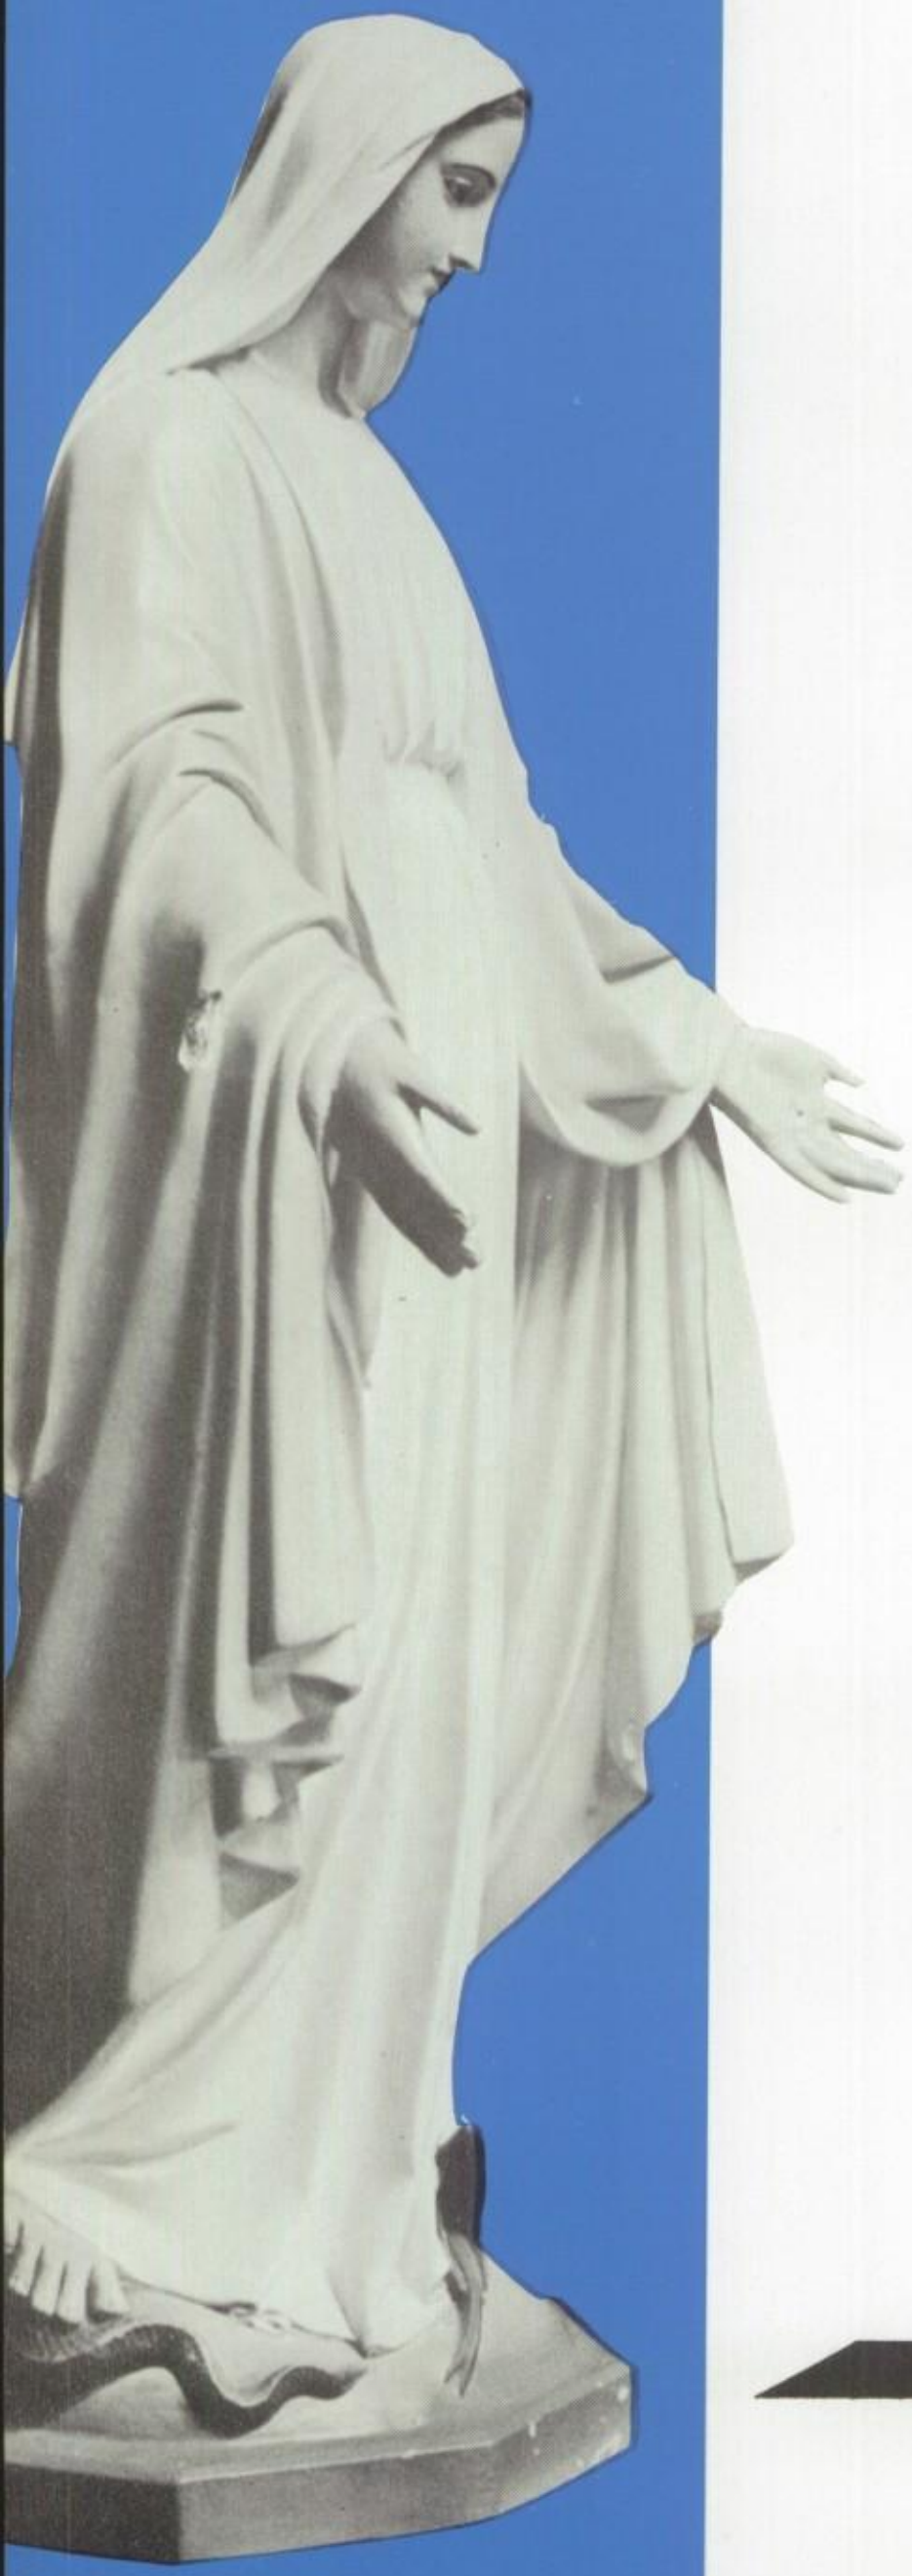
With the debut of the Saint Lawrence Seaway this spring, the Port of Cleveland opened its harbor to ships of all nations, becoming an entryway to the world water route.



Benedictine marked the opening of its thirty-second consecutive scholastic year Sept. 5 with a solemn high Mass in Saint Benedict church. Father Jerome, O.S.B., chaplain, was celebrant and Father John J. Gerrity, assistant pastor of Saint Therese church, preached.

To Christian maturity

Located on the third floor of the main building is the school chapel where the Blessed Sacrament reposes in the tabernacle throughout the academic year. Daily Mass is offered by the chaplain at 7:50 a.m.

The five-minute break between class sessions affords time to students to pay a visit to Christ in the chapel.

Ever since his coming to Benedictine the spirit and tradition of the Order of Saint Benedict could be hopefully looked for in Matthew Koval.

Upon graduating from Benedictine in 1935, the Bengals' varsity football center spent his first two college years at Saint Procopius college, his year of novitiate at Saint Vincent archabbey, and his final two college years at Saint Benedict's college. He earned his master of arts degree at the University of Notre Dame.

As Father Jerome, O.S.B., he was ordained priest Dec. 18, 1943.

Through 19 consecutive scholastic years on the Benedictine faculty, Father Jerome has taught general science, sociology, moral guidance, business law, economics and German. He was school librarian, 1940-43, and assistant band moderator, 1943-44. Since 1948 he's been emceeing Bengal football rallies.

Excluding the 1955-56 academic term when he served as assistant principal and Dads' club moderator, Father Jerome has been Benedictine's chaplain since 1951.

Mostly as chaplain has he endeared himself to students through kindness and zeal for souls.

Because he is teacher, priest and shepherd, we are proud to dedicate the 1959 Benedictine to the Reverend Father Jerome M. Koval, O.S.B.

The Cleveland Catholic diocese is under the leadership of its archbishop-bishop, Most Rev. Edward F. Hoban. Assisting the Archbishop with episcopal duties are auxiliary bishops, Most Rev. Floyd L. Begin and Most Rev. John J. Krol.

In these prelates Benedictine students find men of many and varied accomplishments, excellent organizers, splendid administrators, deeply spiritual leaders whose warm personalities and approachable friendliness are a constant inspiration to higher efforts in the cause of Christ.

Navigators

In September 1958 the Catholic population of the Cleveland diocese was 730,744. This number ranked Cleveland as the fourth largest diocese in the nation after Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and Buffalo.

Catholics comprise about 30 per cent of the total population in the eight-county diocese which is 2,467,300. Since 1943 the Catholic population in the area increased by 138,607.

Benedictine's 974 students are registered at 110 Catholic and non-Catholic churches. Of these parishes, 102 belong to the Cleveland Catholic diocese.

PRESIDENT

The President plays a very important part in personality development.

Quietly efficient in his highly responsible work, Father Abbot constantly edifies the student body with the noble example of priestliness.

Benedictine students are privileged to have as their president the Right Reverend Abbot Theodore G. Kojis, O.S.B., who with this term completes 13 consecutive scholastic years as school head.

This year we especially congratulate Abbot Theodore, who on April 16 celebrated his fiftieth birthday. We pray that he may continue to head Benedictine for many years to come.

Under Father Abbot Benedictine is experiencing extraordinary academic growth. The academic development which the President is fostering is evidenced by the new curricula which have been established, identifying strongly the school as a college preparatory institution.

Father Abbot's aim is to improve the intellectual quality of the Benedictine student, and to adequately equip him for the demands of the world and to do God's will.

ADMINISTRATION

HEADING the school's administration for his second straight academic year as principal is the Rev. Father Robert R. Wilkes, O.S.B.

He is assisted by the Rev. Father Basil A. Hrin, O.S.B., assistant principal and disciplinarian, the Rev. Father Sylvester A. Prisc, O.S.B., treasurer, the Rev. Father Jerome M. Koval, O.S.B., chaplain, and the Venerable Brother Bede Pace, O.S.B., registrar.

Theirs is the task to promote and direct the intellectual, spiritual and temporal advancement of Benedictine students.

The Benedictine faculty is primarily composed of priests and Brothers of the Order of Saint Benedict who are members of Saint Andrew's Abbey in Cleveland. The teaching staff also includes laymen.

These dedicated men aim at the development of the whole person. They carry on their educational and scholarly endeavors on the assumption that Benedictine must put first, last and strongest emphasis on the things of the mind, that the value of Benedictine is largely determined by the continuance in its graduates of intellectual and spiritual enthusiasms.

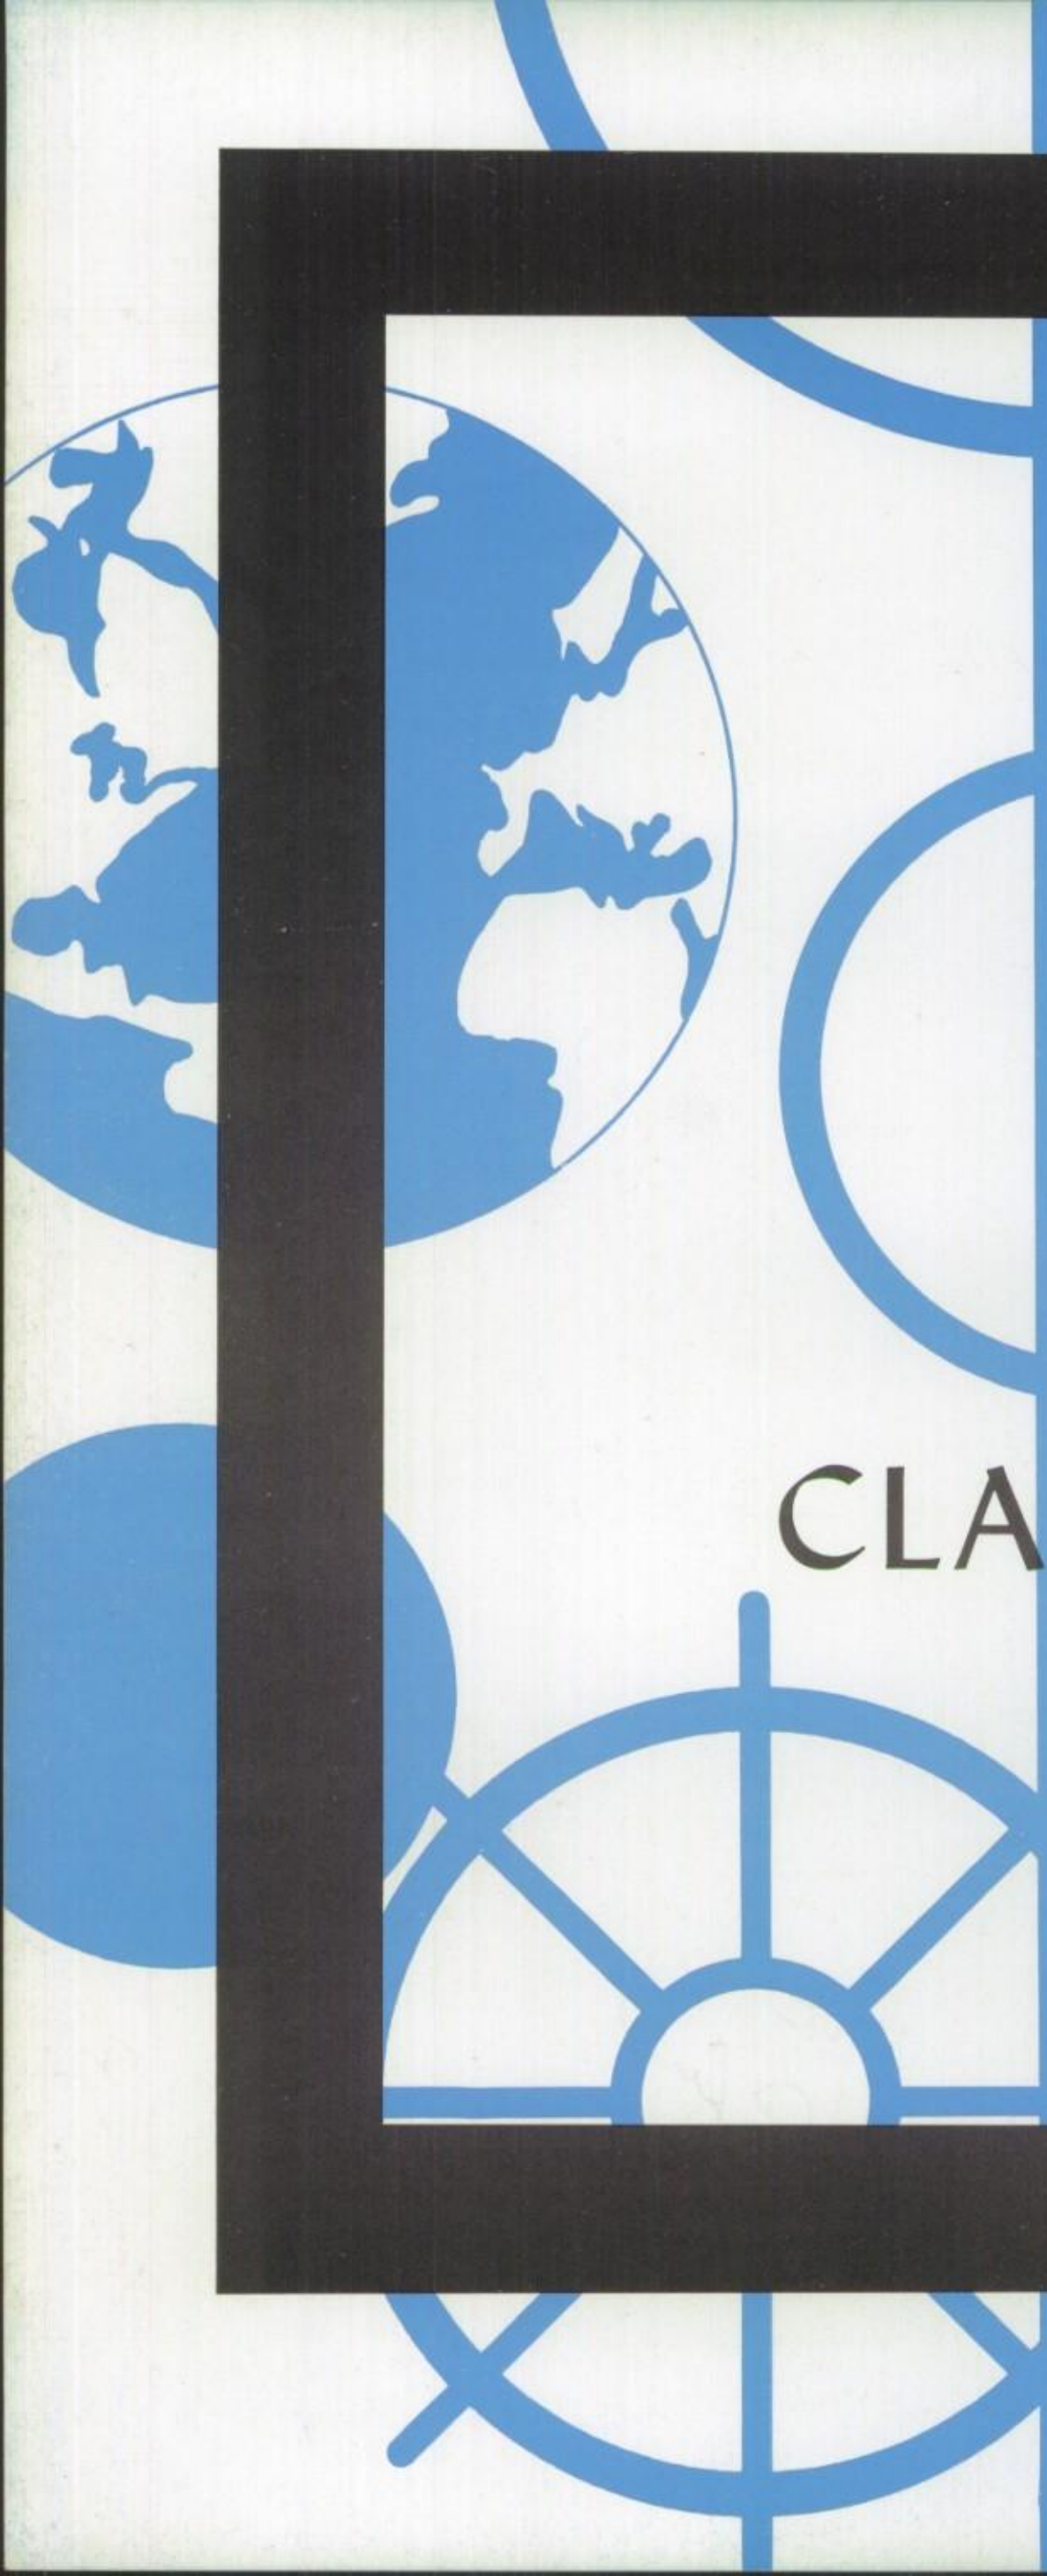
Christian Leaders

At Benedictine the teacher's person, his attitudes, ideas and ideals have an immeasurable influence upon students. He faces them squarely as instructor, counselor and citizen, perhaps as writer and moderator.



DURING the hours of the school day we Benedictine students are being prepared to play our parts worthily as citizens of the city of men and as citizens of the city of God.

The Benedictine curriculum embraces our whole personality. By a balanced nurturing and development of the intellect, the will, the emotions, the physical powers, it aims at producing students who may not in their lifetimes prove traitors to their manhood or their God.

Senior Dennis Green agrees that as Benedictine students delve deeper into literature, poetry and prose, the school library becomes more meaningful. For it contains the great literature that portrays the greatness and misery of man.

A primary requisite for the study of most sciences is a working knowledge of mathematics. Basic courses serve as stepping stones in mastering scientific data. Instructor Mathias Skowronski briefs Michael Vargo (left) and William Simko.

Every Benedictine man prays to lead a good life, to discern what is right and conform one's conduct unflinchingly to it.

Benedictine's reputation rests in good teachers, teachers who are thoroughly prepared and well-grounded in the matter they teach, who possess intellectual and moral qualifications required by their important position.

UNDERCLASSES

To obtain the pulse beat of Benedictine, one has to observe the underclassmen. From a total school population numbering 973, the underclass figure includes 243 juniors, 239 sophomores and 289 freshmen.

This is the group that causes confusion at September registration, echoes warm hellos every morning, cheers itself hoarse at athletic contests and spends long hours in study.

Blended together, the juniors, sophomores and freshmen do their extra share to make Benedictine what it is.

Freshmen

True of freshmen mostly, Benedictine from September through May is the center of existence for the yearlings. Their lives are surrounded by an academic atmosphere. For nine months they're living in an intellectual cloud. They're completely lost.

The school's academic spirit plunges them into their college-preparatory studies with gusto. In a short time they view everything with an academic eye: seeing unknowns in algebra; visualizing a Being without a beginning in moral guidance, and perceiving a dead subject that cannot be toyed with in Latin.

Being so captured by Benedictine enables them to understand the outside world better.

Counselor of freshmen was their moderator, Father Raphael, O.S.B., who obtained his degrees at Saint Benedict's college and Catholic University.

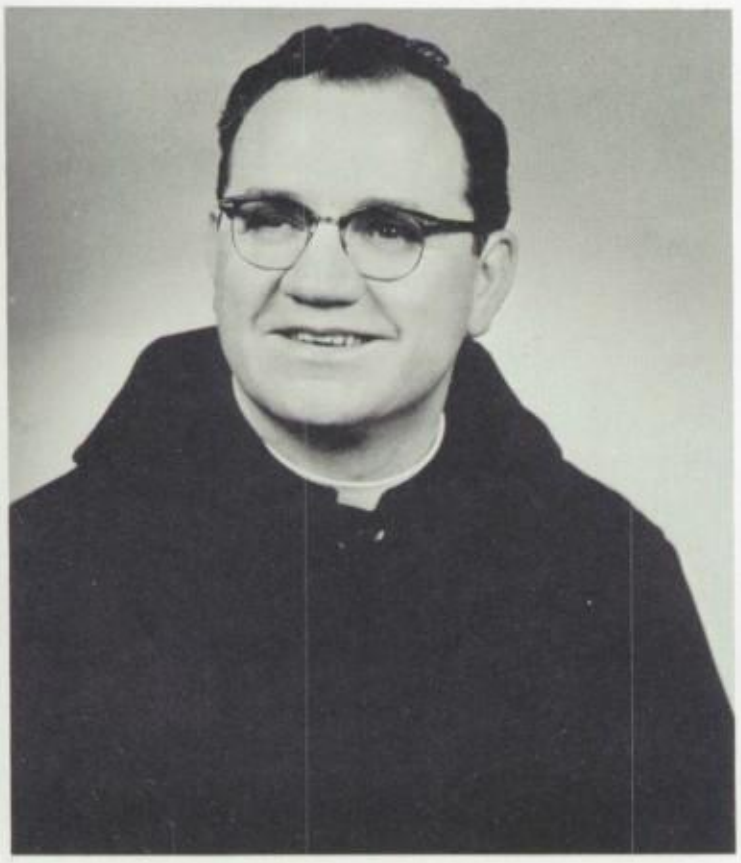
Where true Benedictine men are always found during the day.

Juniors

Gazing into the future's bright horizon are the junior class officers. Into the hands of these men the Benedictine juniors place their confidence to govern the prospective graduates of 1960. From top to bottom they include Dennis Marcin, sergeant-at-arms; Dean Ballek, treasurer; Robert Koval, secretary; Joseph Bujak, vice-president, and James Kolenich, president.



Affable Father Damian, O.S.B., junior class moderator, charted the course for his charges, assisting them to ascertain their own future.

The junior year at Benedictine emphasizes the fact upon the third-year men that they are infused with the seeds of leadership for community affairs which, when nurtured will sprout in years of faithful service to Cleveland. As Benedictine juniors and citizens of one of the nation's industrial centers, they cannot overlook their responsibility to develop professional leadership.

Hence the awareness is prevalent to Benedictine juniors throughout the academic year to prepare toward the further development of the city's technical, commercial, intellectual, social and religious life; to show added interest in problems confronting their city which multiply as it grows.

While Marty Conn's orchestra was enjoying intermission at the junior Christmas ball, Tracy Payne directed his classmates in singing the school's Alma Mater.

CULMINATION, rush and relief are what the Benedictine senior especially experiences.

Culmination of association with Benedictine which raised his intellectual and moral tone and cultivated his mind.

Rush with the honors assembly, baccalaureate and commencement exercises, coupled with the joyous petty details which accompany each.

Relief that a cycle is to end but bolstered to lead a spiritually and morally good life thereby being enabled to give greater glory to God in the future.

for Vocation

It won't be long now — so meditates senior Roger Romito who will be dressed in cap and gown on graduation day, June 7, when he receives his long-awaited Benedictine diploma.
Graduation day, however, in truth, will be just another beginning for Romito, who come September will be a freshman all over again as he continues his higher education at the University of Dayton.

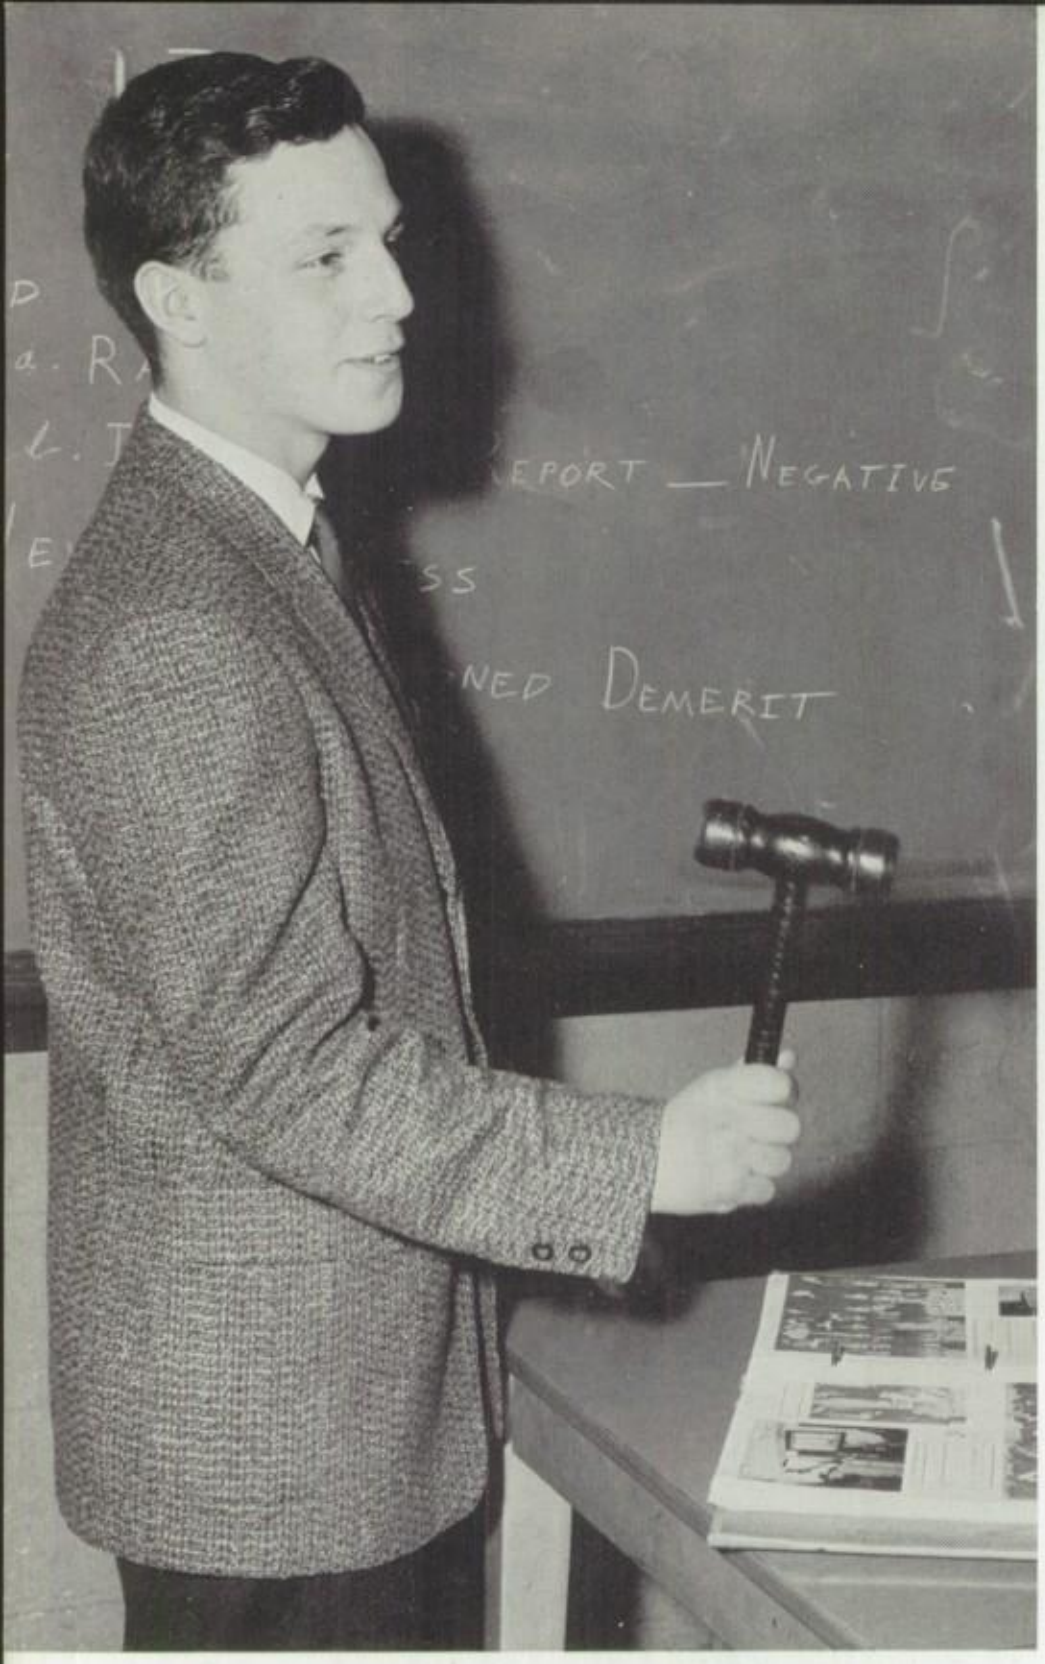
EXTRACURRICULAR activities play a major role in a Benedictine student's life. Myriads of them exist at Benedictine.

Generally, they include spiritual activities; student government; literary, cultural, scientific and class organizations; honorary societies; speech and drama; publications; music; social and booster clubs, and athletics.

No matter what a student's interest, no matter how unique it may be, no matter what he's looking for in extracurricular work, invariably there's some Benedictine activity to suit his taste.

ACTIVITIES

Student Council



Every second Wednesday of the month, student council president John Skok pounded the gavel and called to order the students' legislative branch. Other council officers are John Smith, vice-president, and James Erickson, secretary-treasurer.

Erickson receives advice from moderator Father Basil, O.S.B.

In addition to his administrative duties as Benedictine's assistant principal and disciplinarian, Father Basil, O.S.B., served as student council moderator.

During 1958-59 the student council at Benedictine consisted of 41 elected and appointed representatives of the student body.

Under the guidance of moderator Father Basil, O.S.B., and the presidency of senior John Skok, members comprising the student council enjoyed a fruitful year in matters pertaining to school welfare.

The councilmen, through their sessions held every second Wednesday at 1:45 p.m. in room 100, were permitted class time to take an active part in the conduct of Benedictine. The meetings facilitated the implementation of constructive ideas.

By participating in school policy making and serving as an agency for student ideas, the student council provided assistance in co-ordinating school organizations and activities and promoting school spirit.

Religious Activities

William Martin finds time to serve Mass in the school chapel.

ad majorem Dei gloriam

Although the student's mental development is important, Benedictine students know that their moral development is of greater importance.

In addition to the formal courses in moral guidance, Holy Mass is celebrated daily in the Benedictine chapel. The rosary is publicly prayed during October and May. The Chair of Unity Octave is observed. Mass on the first Friday is scheduled for 8 a.m., and the sacrament of penance is administered the day before.

During Lent students pray the stations of the cross and assist at Mass during the fourth period on Fridays. A triduum precedes the feast of Saint Benedict.

The sanctuary of Saint Benedict's Church is a familiar sight to Benedictine students since many of the school's religious exercises are conducted in the church.

Scholastics

For students interested in preparing for the diocesan or religious priesthood or religious brotherhood, Benedictine established in September, 1952, the Saint Andrew's abbey preparatory seminary.

The scholastics reside in the campus seminary located on the third floor of the old abbey building. They attend classes at Benedictine and adhere to a daily routine comparable to the monastic life.

Educated in Rome, Italy, Father Lawrence, O.S.B., is completing his first year as seminary director.

Daily from 5:45 a.m. to 9 p.m. the scholastics observe a schedule which is designed to strengthen their respective vocations. Top Row: Pastirik, Minor. Row Three: Reca, Lemanski. Row Two: Fecko, Anderson. Row One: Lesauskas, Laketek.

Knights of the Altar

Every school day students at Mass witness the elevation of the chalice in the chapel.

At Benedictine liturgical functions the Knights of the Altar assist. This organization of 17 students aims at furthering Catholic action and developing a spirit of virile piety in fellow students.

A Knight during all of his four Benedictine years, Dzuroff lights the candles before Mass.

Fulfilling his first full academic year as Benedictine debate coach, Father Walter, O.S.B., guided the school's 14-man forensic society through 18 tournaments, from October 4 through April 11.

The school's debate organization is affiliated with the Greater Cleveland Speech League, National Catholic Forensic League, Northern Ohio District of the National Forensic League, and the Ohio High School Speech League.

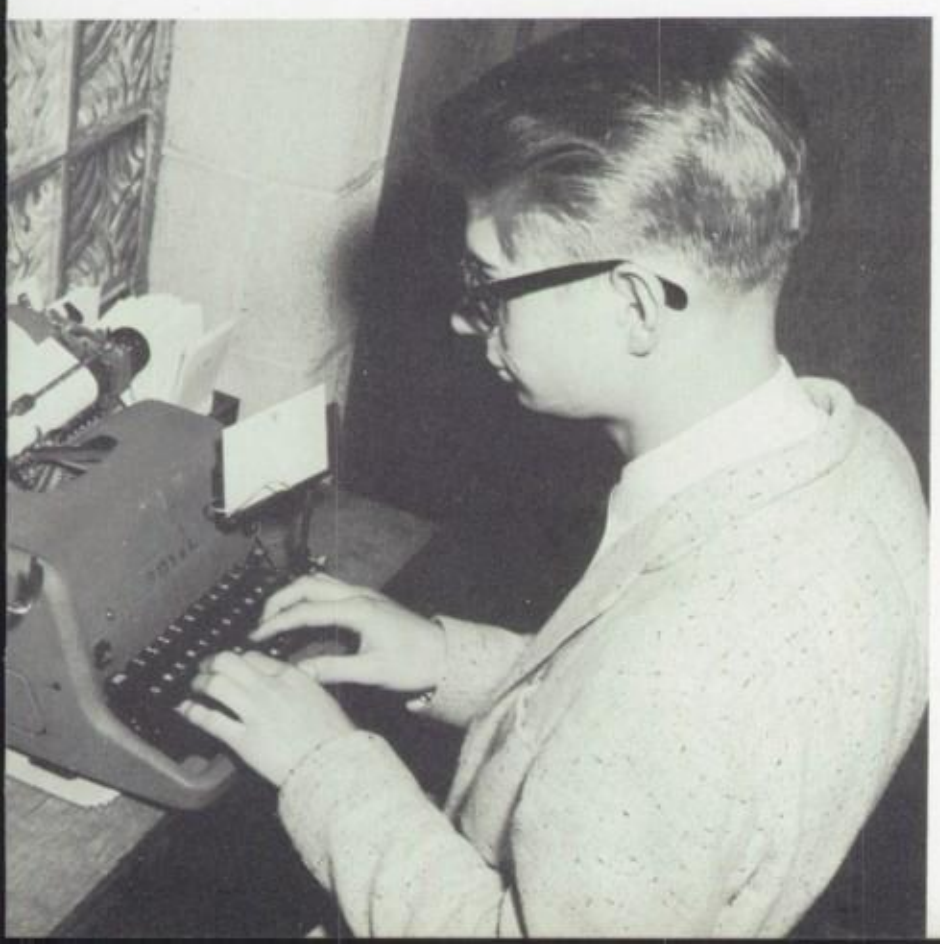
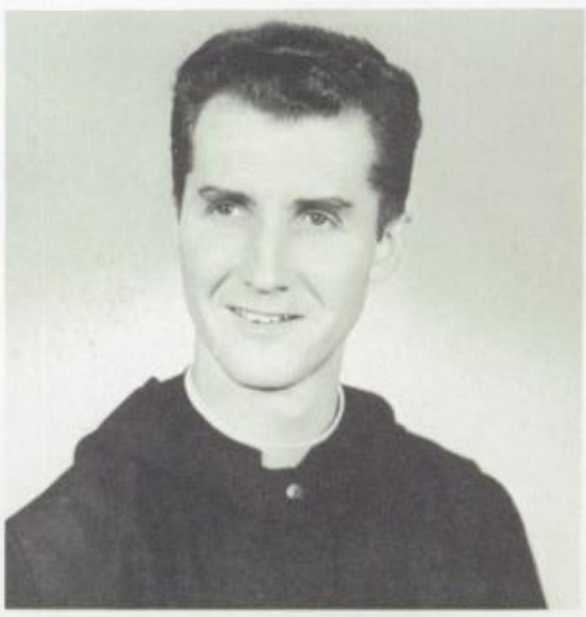
Among the duties of the library staff is to replace books as James Reca (left) and Paul Pickering demonstrate . . . Below, Wayne Lemanski assists in typing an inventory list of books.



Library Staff

As its primary function the Benedictine library produces for the student and faculty member everything literary which the school curriculum demands. In fulfilling its secondary function the library supplies reasonable bibliographical facilities for recreational reading, extracurricular activities or the pursuance of personal interests and hobbies.

It is the responsibility of Father Luke, O.S.B., as Benedictine's librarian, to devote time to the direction of students in the use of the library and to the superintendence of the accessions.



Ever present and available in the Benedictine library to assist both students and faculty members is librarian Father Luke, O.S.B.

Although the yearbook moderator shies away from the idea of naming co-editors, this year he had no alternative but to do just that.

To the top position of the 1959 Benedictine, Father Donald, O.S.B., appointed Kenneth Koral and James Lewis as co-editors.

Koral and Lewis, moreover, made it known to the moderator that they would prefer to have it that way, since they were to play major roles in the yearbook's production.

Th co-editors are also Bennet men. Koral and Lewis joined the school newspaper staff as freshmen, and became associate editors as sophomores. In their junior year Koral was the Bennet's editor-in-chief, while Lewis was page 2 editor.

Rounding out the yearbook's editorial staff are associate editors Richard Mack, Kenneth Kerata, Gerald Dzurik, Roger Romito, Michael DiSanto and Ralph Grabowski.

BENNET news . . . .

At the outset of the 1958-59 academic year, the staff members of the Bennet, Benedictine's monthly newspaper, had their work cut out for them.

For the 1957-58 Bennet achieved the following honors:

- Publication of Distinction from the Catholic School Press Association.
- Best Newspaper Award and the Catholic Universe Bulletin trophy from the Cleveland Diocesan Scholastic Press Association.
- Medalist from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.
- Superior Honors from the Duquesne University Scholastic Press Association.
- George H. Gallup Award and International Honor Rating from the Quill and Scroll Society.
- Best Ohio Newspaper Award and the Cleveland Press Trophy from Saint Bonaventure University's 1958 Press Day.
- Best Sports Page Award and Northeastern Ohio Scholastic Press Association Trophy from the Northeastern Ohio Scholastic Press Association.

Two notable losses from the Bennet staff because of graduation will be photographers Thomas Janecek (at the enlarger) and John Spisak.

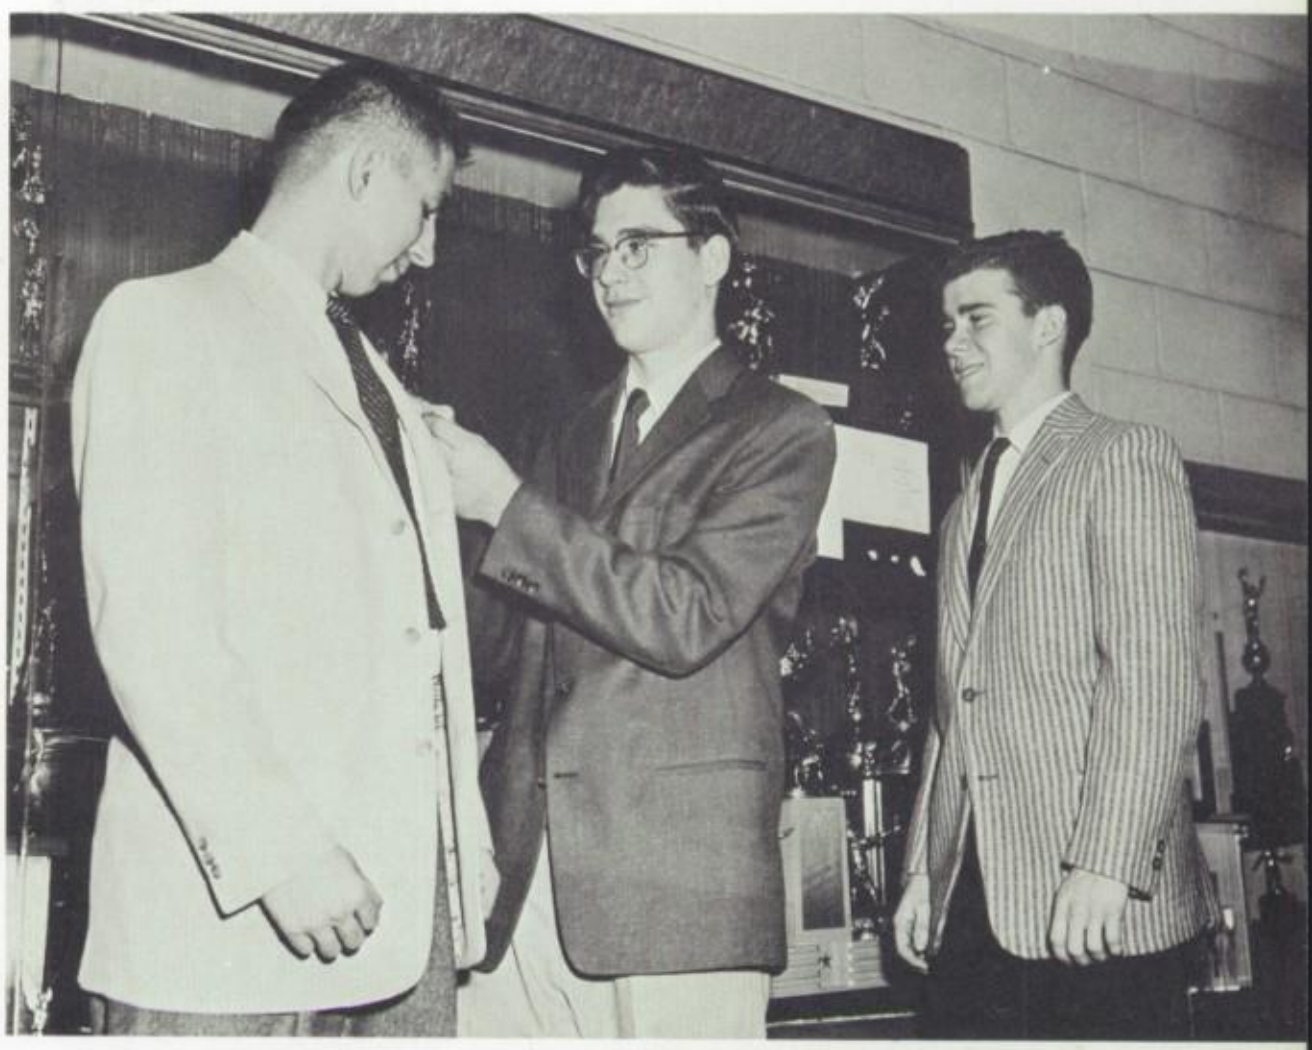
True Benedictine Scholars



Scholastic pride is registered on the faces of these seniors who consistently merited top grades in their four Benedictine years: (left to right) Kenneth Perko, Anthony Ozimek and James Lewis.

Principal Father Robert, O.S.B., extends congratulations to Benedictine's National Merit Scholarship winner, top scholastic senior and 1959 valedictorian Kenneth Koral.

Annually following the first semester examinations, Benedictine's principal designates a group of juniors and seniors to membership in the National Honor Society.

Besides high scholarship, at least a scholastic average hovering around 90 per cent, the principal also demands of potential candidates the requirements of character, leadership and service to the school.

To be considered for National Honor Society recognition, the student must at least be a second honors scholar. The Benedictine honor roll includes highest honors (93 average and above), second honors (88-92.9), and honorable mention (85-87.9).

Engineering Drawing

In developing the quality of visualization, junior Michael Seredick uses compass to solve spatial relationship of points, lines and planes.

Proper use of drafting equipment helps John Roznik to understand graphic language used in engineering.

In the engineering drawing course, instructor Father Thomas, O.S.B., emphasizes theory of projection. Students are exposed to descriptive geometry and pictorial, oblique and perspective drawing. They also obtain practice in use of drafting instruments, free-hand technical sketching and lettering.

The class, likewise, becomes acquainted with uses of graphical methods.

Work for these engineering drawing students involves applying aesthetic principles of structural and decorative design in fine and applied art stressed upon the design of machinery and manufactured products. The future engineers make graphs, charts, diagrams and pencil sketches to solve their problems.

Art

Director of Benedictine's art department since September, 1954, has been Jose M. Cintron.

Under Mr. Cintron's guidance are three classes in which students are introduced to the subject of art.

Besides obtaining a thorough introduction to drawing, students registered in the course take elementary perspective, and instruction in various media and techniques, such as pencil, pen and ink, charcoal and lithograph crayon.

Instructor Jose Cintron (left) explains to Robert Singer that the human skull by revealing the placement of bones and their shapes assists in the drawing of exact and natural portraits.

During the academic year Benedictine art students compete in contests as the Northeastern Ohio Lake Area Regional Scholastic Art, the local and national traffic safety poster, the Catholic Book Week, and the annual Catholic High School Art Festival. This year Edmund Nowak's black ink drawing, a key award winner in the Scholastic Art contest, was selected for national competition in New York.

Dads' Club

The Dads' club of Benedictine began the 1958-59 school year with a new moderator in Father Method, O.S.B.

Besides its annual four-day bazaar, April 30 through May 3 in the school gym, the Dads' club sponsored the following events: memorial Mass November 2; roast beef dinner November 16; Christmas party December 18; cabaret party January 31; day of spiritual recollection March 8, and the Dads-Son Communion Breakfast May 17.

The club's annual card party scheduled for October 18 was transferred to November 29 because of the pope's death. However, the event had to be cancelled because of bad weather.

"Cheaper By The Dozen"

The Benedictine Abbey Players, a student organization under the direction of Leonard Pchola, present a staged dramatic performance each semester in the school auditorium.

Director of the school's dramatic society since September, 1955, Mr. Pchola has aroused so much interest in the pursuit of the ideals of drama that acting on stage is a prominent Benedictine extracurricular activity.

Under Mr. Pchola's guidance, Benedictine thespians are trained to organize ideas and communicate them through the use of effective speech. Moreover, he seeks to develop in the students the ability of interpretation and offers them theoretical and practical knowledge of the theatre.

"Cheaper by the Dozen" was the Players first semester production. Strongsville's Kathleen Szunyogh (left) starred with Hoban - Dominican's Lynda Siko and Marymount's Nancy Kreiner.

Ralph Grabowski makes inspection of clean hands in "Cheaper by the Dozen." Involved are Gary Lucas, Lynda Siko, Thomas Carroll, Lourdes' Jill Bostwick, Nancy Kreiner, Kathleen Szunyogh and Gerald Pusz.

When "Cheaper by the Dozen" was staged in the Benedictine auditorium January 10-11, the audience attending the comedy was treated during intermissions to organ music played by Richard Koberna.

The stage crew for "Cheaper by the Dozen" consisted of Henry Starr, Harold Koberna (on ladder) and John Spisak (right). The trio constructed the set, supervised the lighting and makeup.

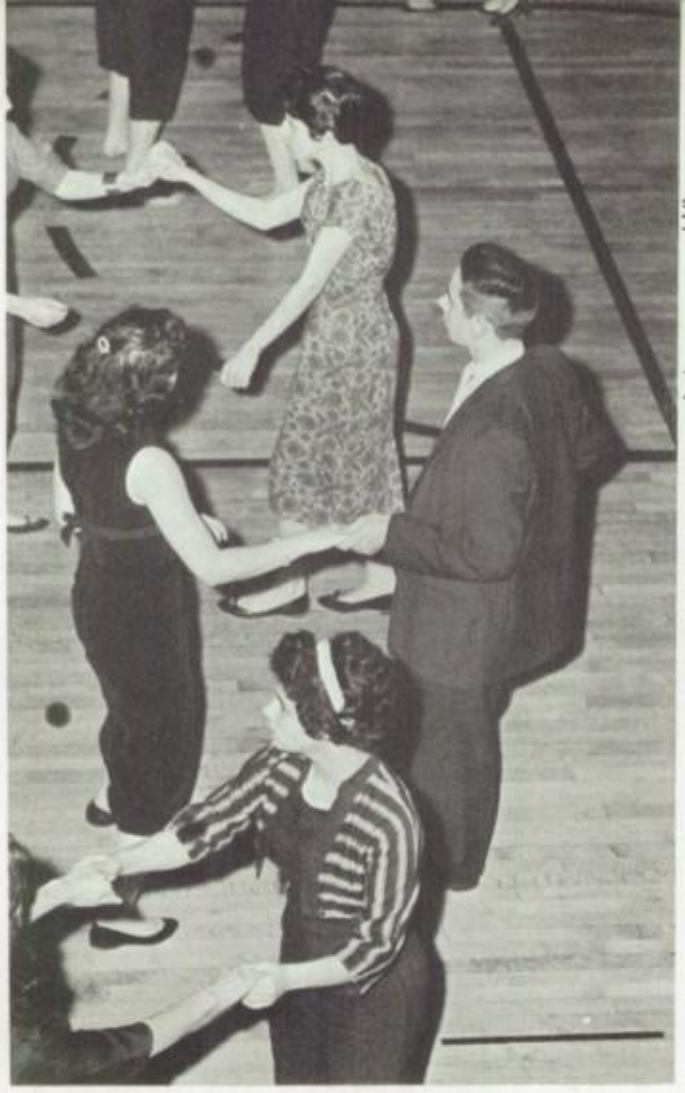
For their second semester production the Benedictine Abbey Players staged another three-act comedy "Finders Creepers" April 25-26 in the school auditorium.

Benedictine actors in the cast were Gerald Pusz, Martin Kralik, Kenneth Krupa, Gary Lucas, George Penfield, Robert Roy and James Szubski.

The actresses and their schools included Mary Kay Fernbacher, Sheila Gaffney and Ann Smith, Regina; Marilyn Golubski, Beaumont; Sandra Hunter, Rhodes; Noreen Papier, Marymount, and Barbara Vereb, Hoban-Dominican.

Abbey Players director Leonard Pchola has staged eight productions since joining the faculty in 1955.

Red-faced scenes of real puppy-love were enacted in "Cheaper by the Dozen," by Kathleen Szunyogh and Joseph Vetrick.



In November the Alumni Association sponsored its Thanksgiving Eve dance in the Benedictine gym. This year Eddie Platt's orchestra played.

Alumni

Benedictine's Alumni Association schedules its general monthly meetings for 8 p.m. on the last Monday of each month in the school auditorium.

The Alumni Association is an organization of Benedictine graduates and former students. The membership seeks to strengthen the bonds of fraternal affection and to promote a spirit of good fellowship among the alumni.

In so doing members believe they can foster the best relations between the alumni and their alma mater. Moreover, they can the better encourage the spiritual, intellectual, cultural and material development of the school through the influence, interest and financial support of members.

At the January meeting the alumni elected officers. Sorting ballots are past president Aloysius Stefanek and moderator Father Thomas, O.S.B.

Recording secretary Donald Kupecky raises hand to express his vote.

These alumni, with moderator Father Thomas, were elected at the January meeting to one-year terms. Seated: Robert Faber, president, and Thomas Pluto, west side vice-president. Standing: Donald Kupecky, recording secretary, Raymond Krul, east side vice-president, John Thur, corresponding secretary, Stephen Cajka, treasurer, Joseph Hornack, sergeant-at-arms.

That same evening the juniors were dancing to the society music of Marty Conn's band at their Christmas ball in the Crystal ballroom of the Tudor Arms Hotel.

Class president James Kolenich and his partner Carol Yoe reigned supreme as king and queen at the junior Christmas ball.

Bengal Boosters

A powerful moral influence to every Benedictine varsity gridder are the student booster clubs' signs and posters in the gym.

Each school year there crops up at Benedictine voluntary organized groups, booster clubs.

This year six such organizations evolved to promote school spirit throughout both semesters, but especially during the Benedictine football season.

Clubs like the Aztecs, Cavaliers, Dominoes, Incas, Lancers and West Side Bengals plastered the gym with signs and posters in support of the Bengal varsity grid squad.

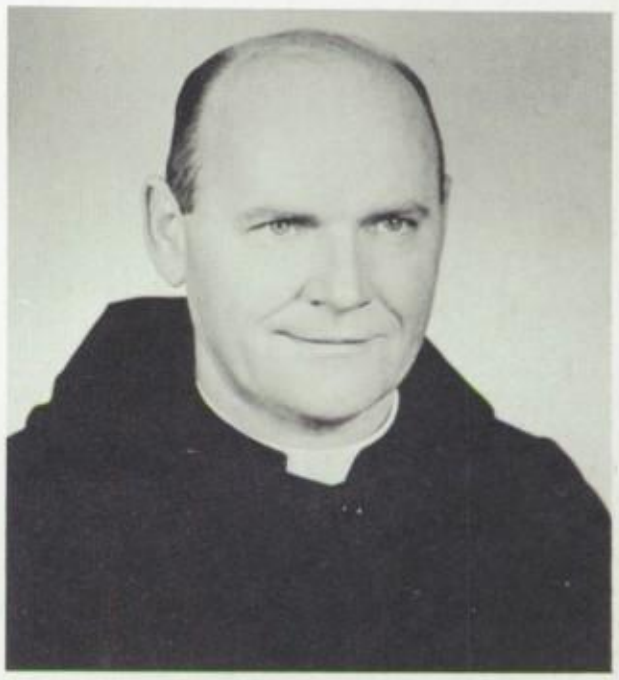
the 1959 Benedictine Band

Considering any Benedictine student organization, the school's band has the longest span of activity. In fact, the band's activity extends through the regular calendar year of 12 months and not the nine-month scholastic year.

Under the very capable leadership of director Jack T. Hearns, the 60-piece band is kept busy from summer through commencement.

Its music is heard at pep rallies and football games. Concert season highlights include the band festival and pop concert.



Versatile Father Florian, O.S.B., supervises the band as moderator.

Jack T. Hearns directs Greater Cleveland's best marching Benedictine band.

The Benedictine band members, as a group, have always been the school's most rabid backers of the Bengal grid varsity. Left to right are Smolinski, Bodziony, Drongowski, Gorgan and Gutkoski.

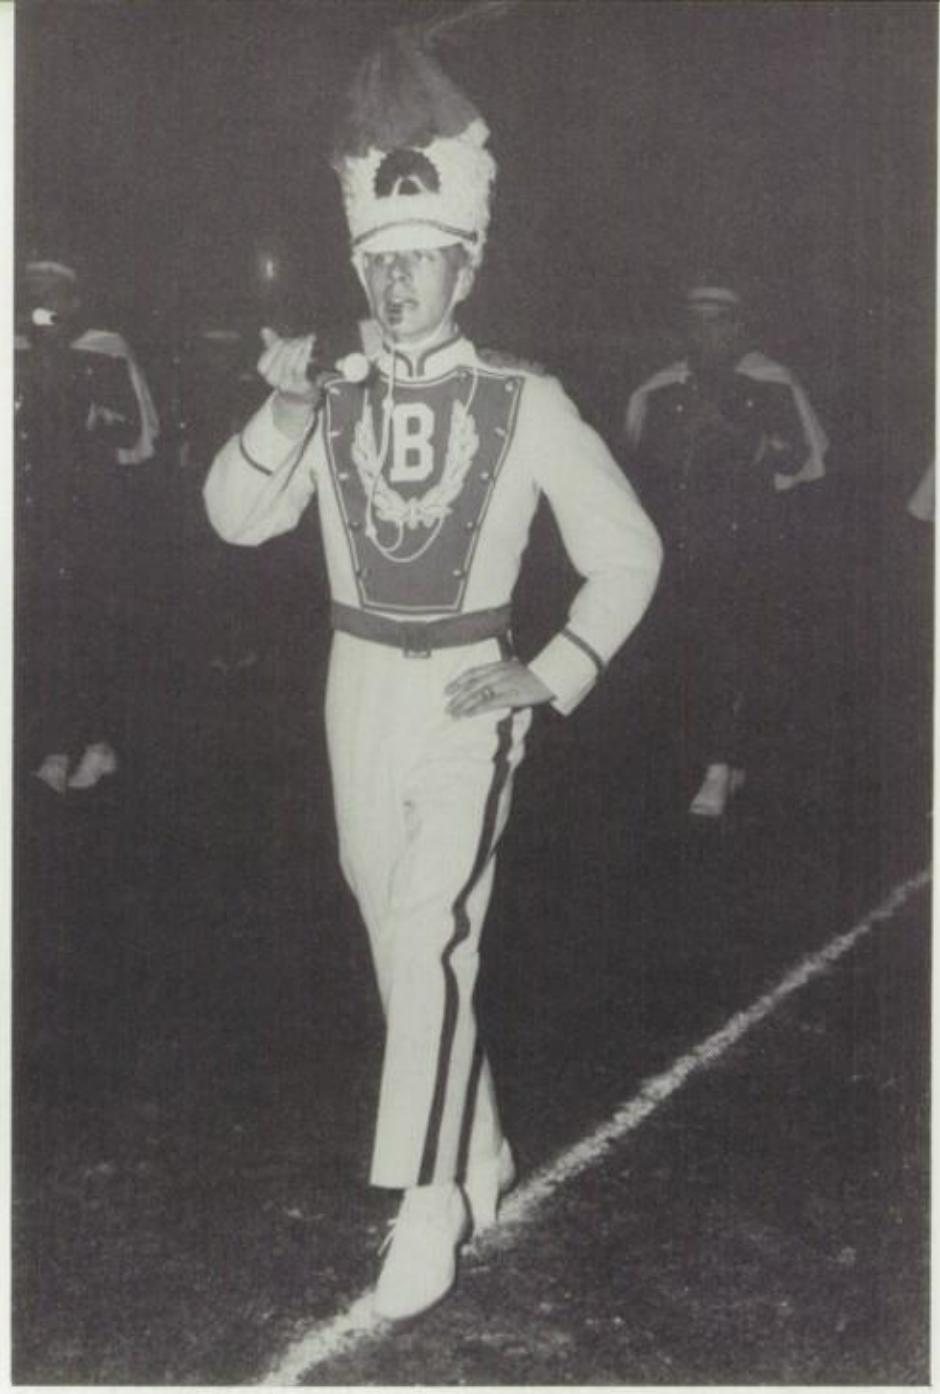
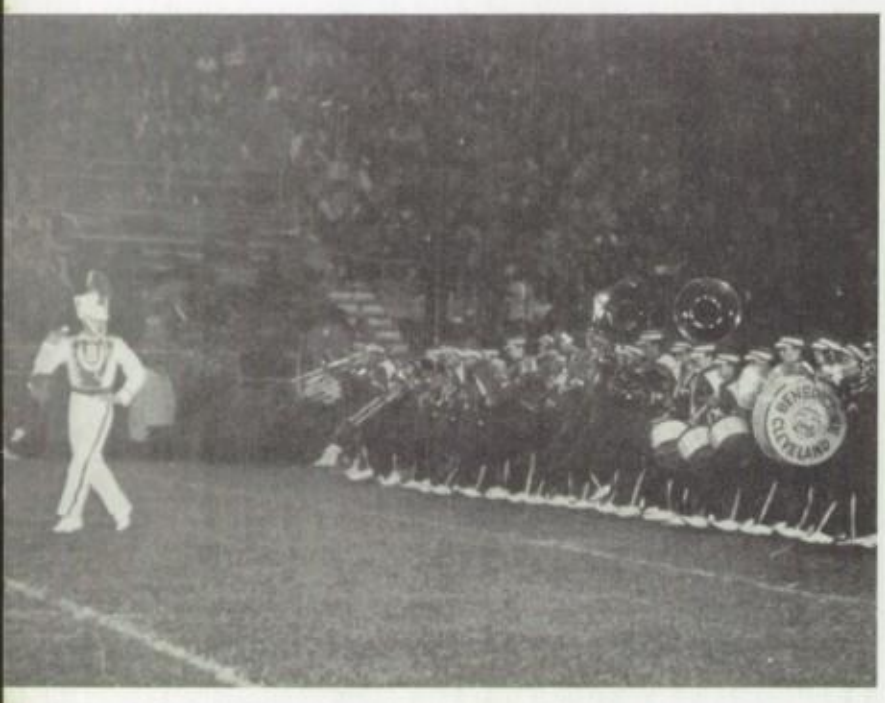
That the Benedictine Band has a full yearly schedule no one denies. During the school year the musicians attend two-hour practice sessions on Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the school band room. When summer comes, director Jack T. Hearns supervises one-day-a-week sessions.

Besides adding color to the varsity football games at halftime and at various school functions, the band fulfills its civic and cultural obligations.

Annually thousands of patriotic citizens witness in downtown Cleveland the band's marching and playing during the Columbus and Loyalty Day parades.

For the past two grid seasons drum major Frank Kuczkowski led the Benedictine band's cadence of 150 steps per minute.





During halftime at varsity football games the Benedictine band extends itself from sideline to sideline in performing its marching maneuvers.

The concert season climaxes with the May pop concert which features the awarding of trophies and monograms to bandsmen. Among the special honors are the Arion Foundation, Jack T. Hearns and John Philip Sousa awards.

Benedictine Music Always

ATHLETICS

BENEDICTINE boasts of a sports program which features interscholastic and intramural competition.

Interscholastic action is scheduled in varsity football, basketball, baseball, wrestling, bowling, track, tennis and golf. Intramural play includes basketball, softball and bowling.

Whatever the event may be, Bengal athletes know the purpose of sports at Benedictine:

That sports, properly directed, develop character, make men courageous, generous losers and gracious victors, refine the senses, provide intellectual penetration and steel the will to endurance.

Benedictine Bengals In Action

When Benedictine's Augie Bossu blew the whistle August 20 at Kingsbury Run to start his fourth consecutive season as head football coach of the Bengals, the former Notre Dame varsity guard was greeted by one offensive regular and three defensive starters from the 1957 East Senate, city and state champion squad.

The veterans, all seniors, included fullback Bob Davis, right safety Larry Hradisky and defensive guards Frank Coufalik and Frank Marek.

At the end of the '58 campaign the Benedictine varsity grid roster consisted of 33 gridsters. This number comprised 13 seniors, 14 juniors and six sophomores.

Eleven Bengals huddle with Coach Augie Bossu as the mentor reminisces about Benedictine's fame on the gridiron. Lending an attentive ear to their grid master are (kneeling, left to right) Frank Marek, John Reda, Jim Kestner, Bob Davis and Al Grigaliunas; (standing) Bob Catanza, Al Liederbach, Larry Hradisky, Bob DeFiore, Wayne Jasinski and Stan Krisinski.

During the eight-game '58 season, Benedictine's four quarterbacks Larry Hradisky, Joe Bujak, Jim Kolenich and Dennis Andrews threw 48 passes, completed 20 for 475 yards. Seven of the aerials were intercepted.

Senior Hradisky led with 18 completions for 442 yards. Juniors Bujak and Kolenich each completed a toss for 26 and seven yards respectively. Sophomore Andrews, who was promoted from the jayvees, failed in one attempt.

Benedictine Football Teaches Respect

Via the diploma route Benedictine will lose 13 seniors in guard Baumbick, fullback Catanza, tackle Coufalik, halfback Davis, tackle DeFiore, quarterback Hradisky, end Jasinski, fullback Jim Kestner, tackle Krisinski, guard Liederbach, end Marek, center Reda and tackle Wolf.

But the varsity roster shows that 14 juniors and six sophomores will return to form the nucleus of the '59 squad. The juniors are backs Bujak, Duplaga, Jambor, Kolenich, Kosewic and Tollis, and linemen Forgach, Gibbons, Grigaliunas, Janiak, Marcin, Siath, Tvrdik and Zahorsky.

Sophomores include linemen Hummel and Rick Kestner, and backs Andrews, Malinak, Rini and Schepis.

for all Authority

The 1958 Benedictine football varsity completed an eight-game schedule with five victories and three defeats. Its East Senate mark was 4-2.

Two of the eight tilts were independent contests, whereas the other six were East Senate encounters.

Against the non-league foes, the Bengals edged Saint Edward, 14-6, but were blanked by Massillon, 19-0.

In loop action Benedictine registered triumphs over Glenville, 54-0, John Adams, 8-6, East Tech, 63-14, and Collinwood, 26-6. Circuit setbacks were administered by East, 8-0, and Cathedral Latin, 34-16. The loss to East snapped Benedictine's string of league victories at 26.

(Because an overage player was listed on the Benedictine eligibility list for the Saint Edward, Glenville, John Adams and Massillon contests, the Bengals forfeited their games with these schools.)

The season's results gave coach Augie Bossu a four-year Benedictine overall record of 31 wins and five defeats, and a Senate mark of 25-2. In 36 games under Bossu the Bengals totaled 1,154 points, the opponents 285. This gives Benedictine an averag of 32.1 points per game and the opponents an average of 7.9 points per tilt.

On offense the starters consisted of ends Grigaliunas and Marek, tackles DeFiore and Coufalik, guards Baumbick and Liederbach, center Reda, halfbacks Rini and Davis, quarterback Hradisky and fullback Catanza.

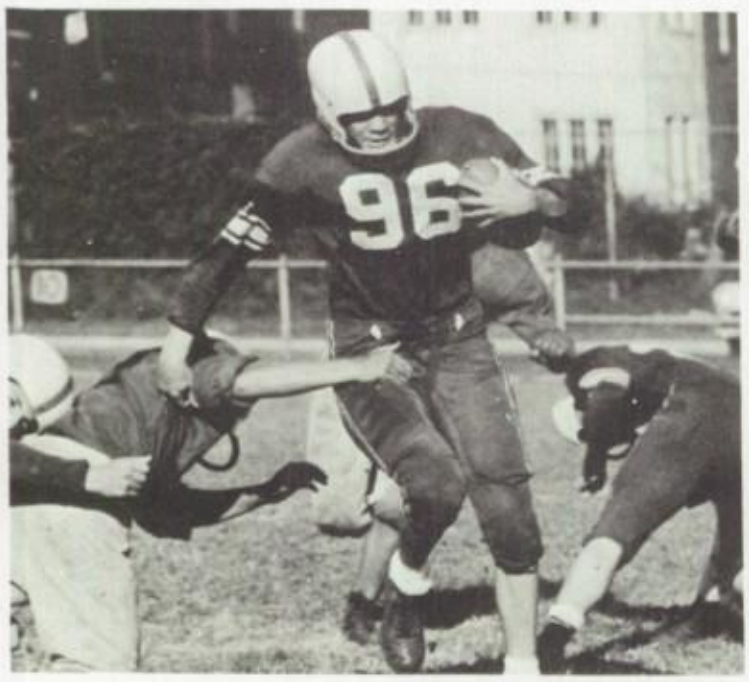
For the second consecutive football season, Benedictine's jayvees terminated their scheduled campaign undefeated and untied, with eight victories.

The unblemished record successfully retained the East Senate crown. In addition, the triumphs gave Ed Duray a three-season Benedictine coaching mark of 18 wins, one loss and one tie, and a winning streak standing at 16 straight contests.



Bengal left half Bob Bekesz, 5-11, 155-pounds, scored 62 points during the campaign on nine touchdowns and eight extra points.

Glenville's Tarblooders stop fullback Joe Miano who averaged 10.4 yards per carry for the season.

Co-captain Don Marich, 127-pounds, overtakes Jeff Kasler of John Marshall in a league bout on the Bengal canvas. Along with Marich, Benedictine will lose six other varsity grapplers through graduation: Co-captain Piazza, Don and Ron Mozeleski, Sunday, Jim Kestner and Coufalik.

In this circuit tilt Benedictine's Don Mozeleski (wearing black trunks) earned five points by pinning Jim Molloy of John Marshall.

Bengal senior Ron Mozeleski (175) presses the face of John Marshall's Bruce Gasser into the canvas during their league match.

After a year's absence Benedictine rejoined the Senate wrestling league, registering a loop record of one win and five losses, and a 2-5 overall mark.

The Bengals' two triumphs were recorded against non-circuit foe Rhodes, 36-13, and Senate opponent West, 25-16.

League squads which jolted Benedictine are John Marshall, 39-8; West Tech, 23-19; South, 24-16; Collinwood, 24-19, and John Adams, 19-16.

Coach Joe Rufus was assisted by trainers Ron Gliha and Chuck Piazza.

Benedictine's varsity basketball coach Ed Kubancik tensely checks the scoreboard.

Coach Ed Kubancik guided Benedictine's 1958-59 varsity basketball squad to a season record of 12 victories and seven defeats.

The 19-game slate included 14 East Senate contests, two independent tilts and three post-season state tournament encounters.

Benedictine terminated league play with a 9-5 record, good for third place. The Bengals split with their independent foes, losing to Lorain but jolting Parma.

In state tourney action Benedictine copped the Parma class AA sectional championship for the second consecutive season. The crown was the third Parma sectional diadem in four years for the Bengals. Coach Kubancik's quintet snatched the title in '56 also.

After the sectional victories at Parma, Benedictine was ousted from state tourney competition by East Tech in the district tournament at Bedford.

Through the 19 games the Bengal varsity hardwooders scored 991 points for an average of 52.2 per contest. Their opponents altogether registered 1,040 markers for a 54.7 average per tilt.

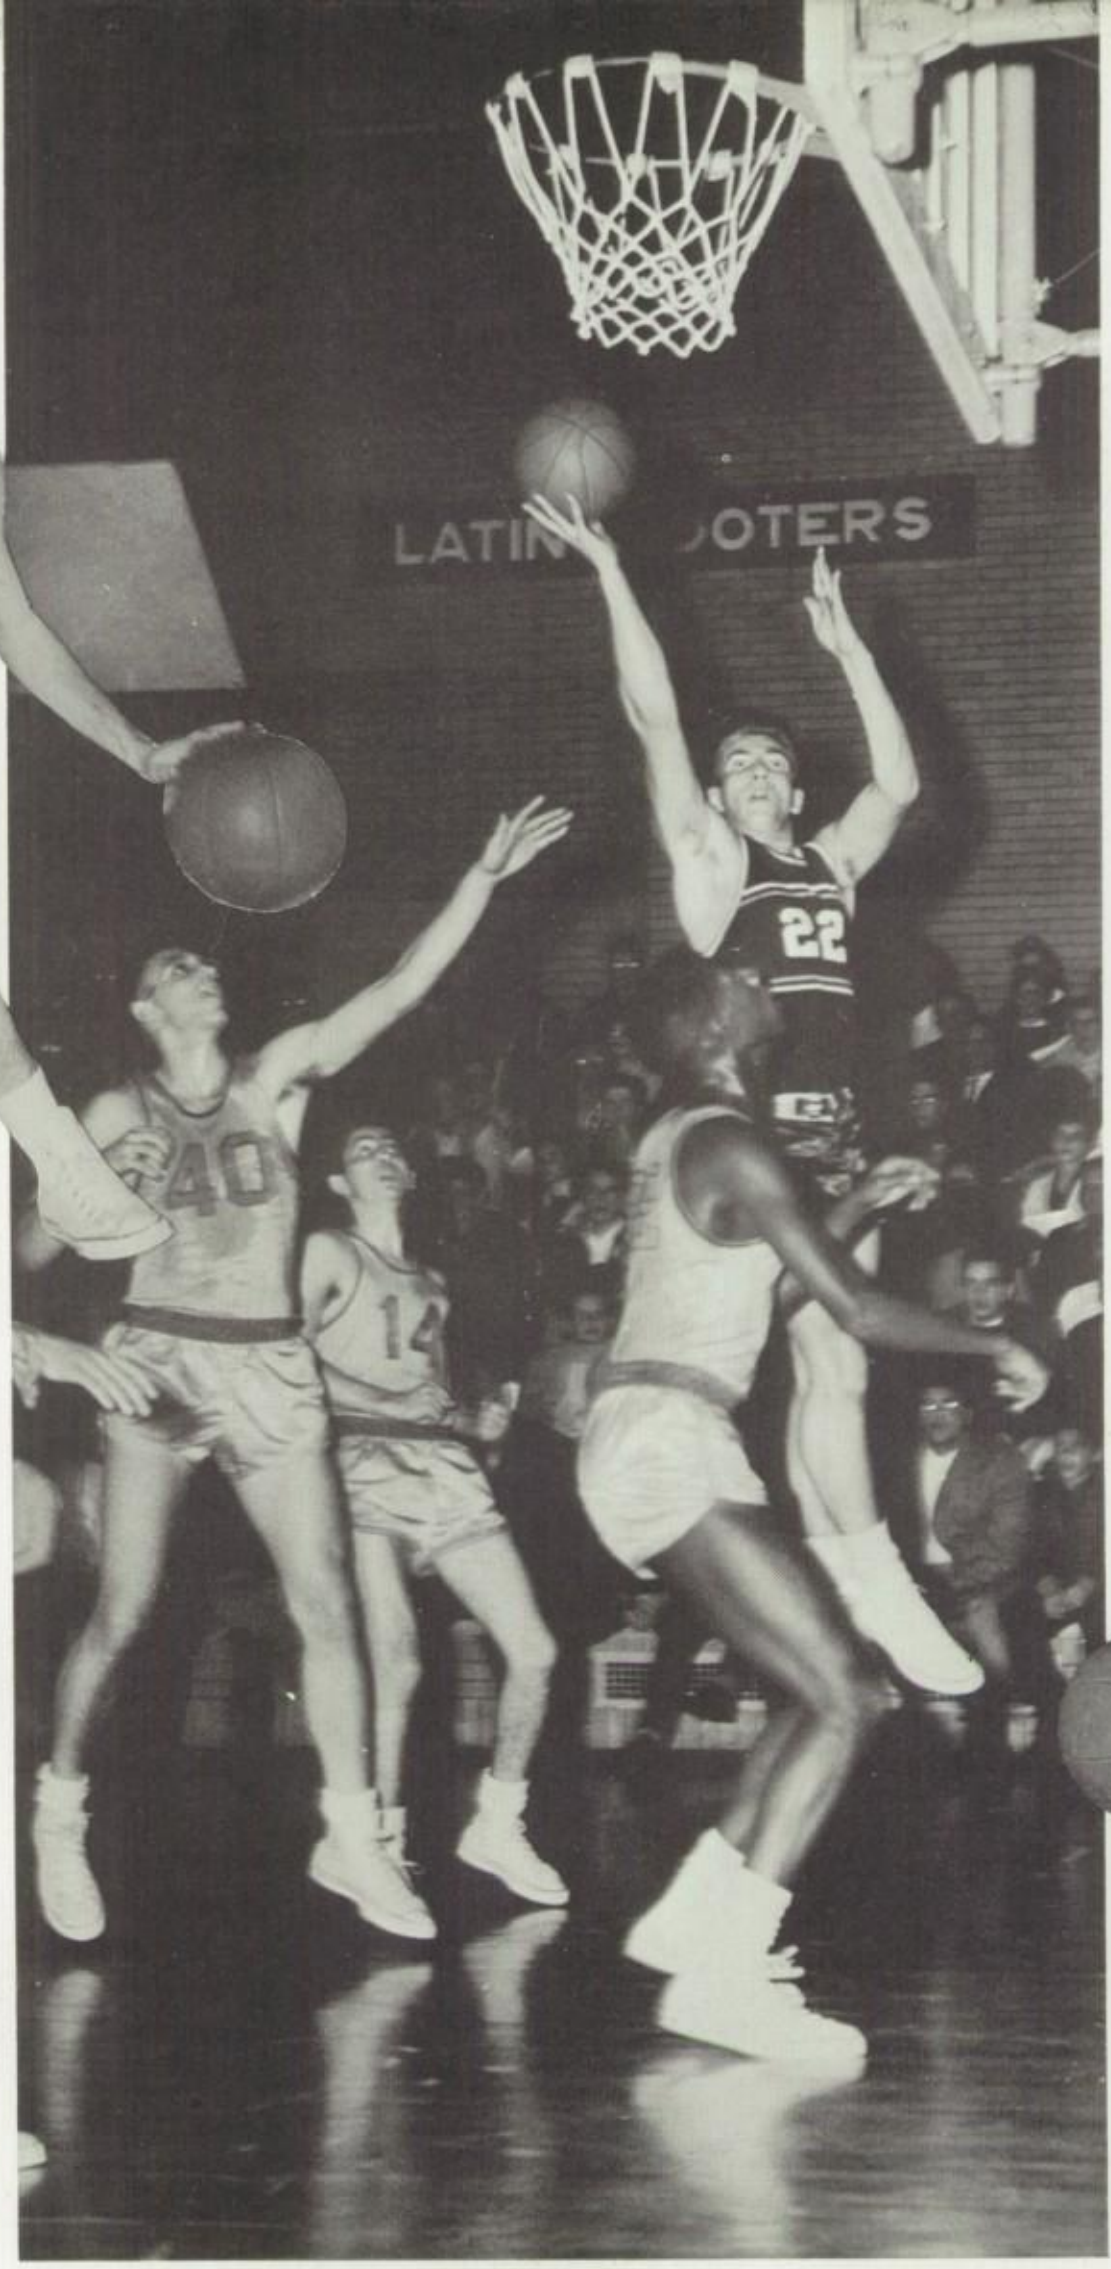
JOHN D'ANGELO
Captain



In the season's upset which saw the Bengals edge Cathedral Latin, 53-50, in double overtime, Len Horvath (22) was Benedictine's top scorer with 17 points.

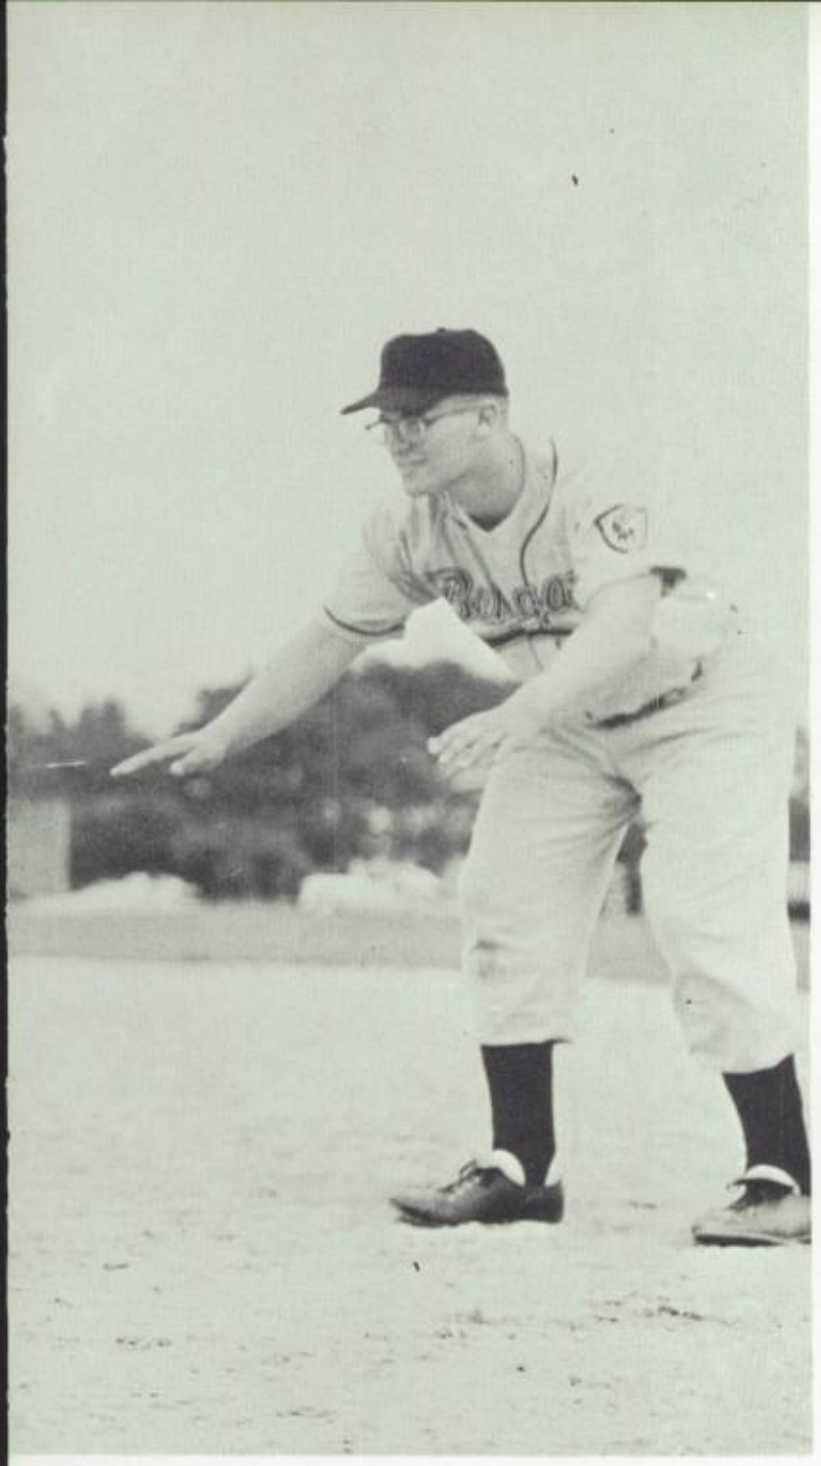
JOHN STRAUSS



On March 18, when coach Augie Bossu issued the first call for the 1959 Benedictine varsity baseball team candidates, the Bengal mentor was greeted by 49 aspirants, among whom were eight returnees from the 1958 squad.

Coach Bossu, who this season begins his sixth campaign as Bengal varsity baseball mentor, has compiled an overall 81-13 won-lost record.

In his initial year, 1954, he guided Benedictine to 12 victories and two defeats. Then followed marks of 19-1, in 1955; 17-1, in 1956; 16-3, in 1957, and 17-6, in 1958.

With Hank Jablonski (below) handling the first base job, and the return of Zitz and Smith to third and second, Coach Bossu has the problem of filling the shortstop slot.

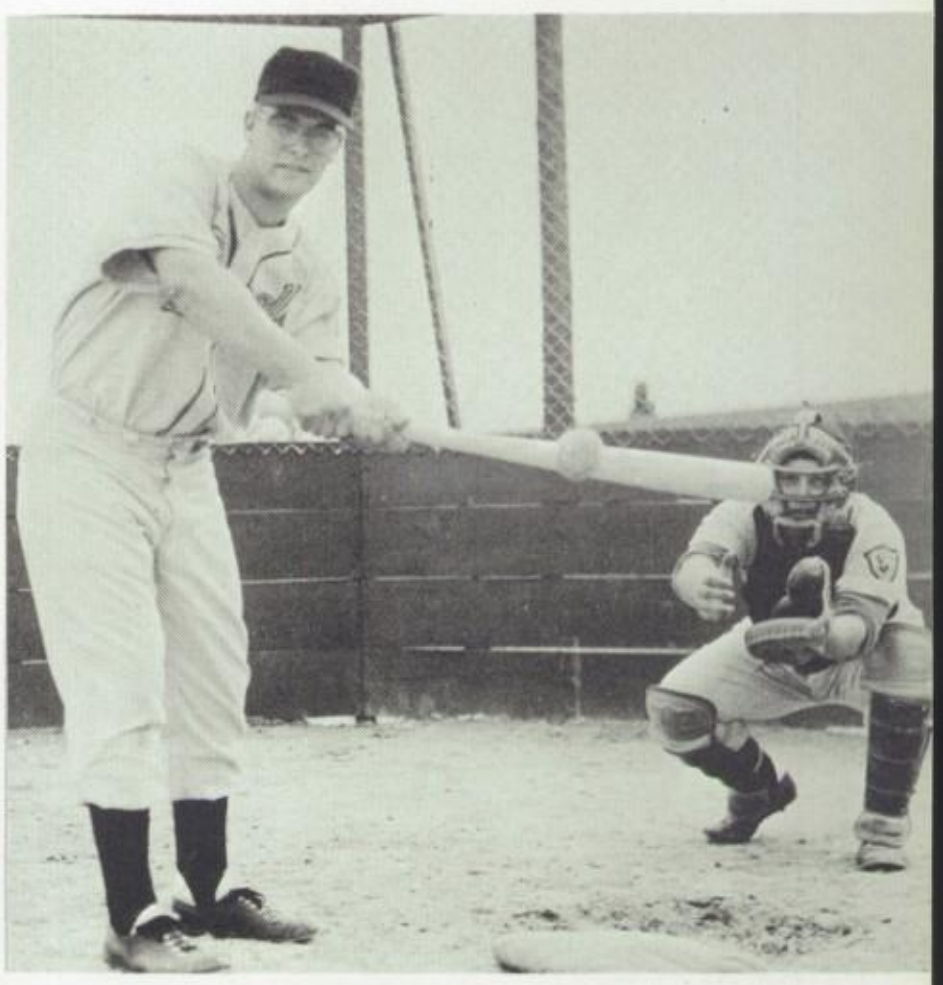
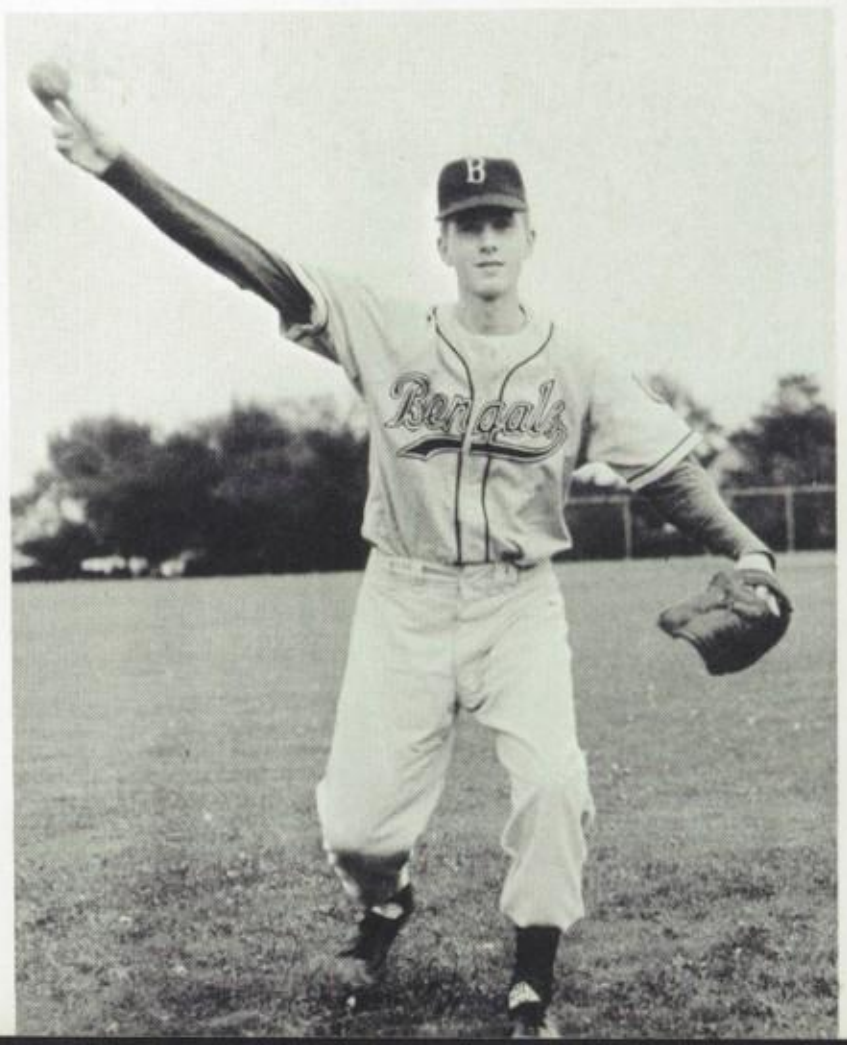
Bearing the brunt of pitching and backstop duties this season will be hurlers Strauss (left) and Lorence and catcher Marcin.

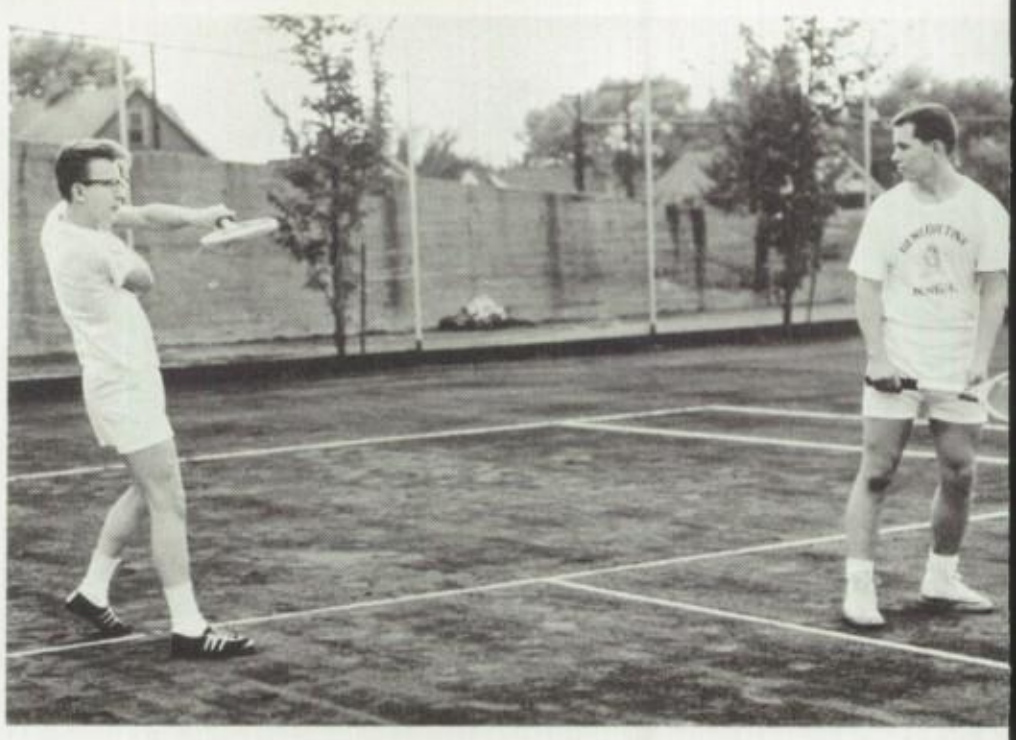


A coach's dream is Frank Kolo (above), six-foot, 190-pound junior, who can pitch, play first and patrol the outfield also.

If the occasion demands it, Coach Bossu indicated that center fielder Conrad Barle will be called upon for relief pitching.



Last year Captain Bosilievic (above) and Reda played first doubles.



Benedictine competes in the Eastern Division Section A of the Greater Cleveland High School Tennis league. Above are Davis and Liptak.

In his second season as Benedictine's tennis coach, Father Anthony, O.S.B., had a turnout of 23 candidates for the 1959 varsity squad.

Among them were six returnees from the '58 team: Captain Branimir Bosilievic, Bill Davis, Jim Erickson, Bob Liptak, John Reda and Bob Taylor.

Benedictine's annual honors day includes the offering of Mass at the campus Marian grotto by the Right Rev. Abbot Theodore G. Kojis, O.S.B., school president.

At the honors day convocation, certain Benedictine students are awarded these trophies in recognition for their superior work in the various aspects of school life, scholastic and extracurricular. This is the day every scholar awaits.

Every Benedictine senior receives Holy Communion on graduation day at the baccalaureate Mass which is offered in Saint Benedict's Church.

Graduation day includes morning Mass and diplomas in the afternoon.

AVE ATQUE VALE

In September, 1955, the 1959 graduates commenced their four-year stay at Benedictine by assisting at Mass. In June, 1959, they will leave their alma mater in a similar manner, assisting at the Divine Sacrifice.

Dressed in caps and gowns for the school's twenty-ninth annual commencement exercises June 7 will be 202 Benedictine seniors.

At 9 a.m. in Saint Benedict Church the graduates will assist and receive Holy Communion at the baccalaureate Mass. After Mass they will assemble in the school auditorium for the traditional breakfast.

In the afternoon at 3 p.m. also at Saint Benedict Church, diplomas will be distributed by the school president. Delivering the commencement address will be the Most Rev. Andrew G. Grutka, bishop of Gary (Ind.).

Two hundred two Benedictine graduates will approach the school president for their diplomas . . . as the principal calls out the graduates' names.

Educated for a full Christian life, Benedictine graduates are prepared for life in this world and in the next especially.

Now we are ready and eager to take our place in a growing community . . .

and with the help of God, to play a part in the future of the industrial heart of America.

Acknowledgements

The 1959 Benedictine could not have been produced without the aid of many people, especially:

- The school administration and all the faculty members.
- The students, their parents, the business firms and patron-friends, for their financial support.
- Harvey Singerman, proprietor of Character Arts Studio, and his assistant Fred Pierson.
- Edward H. Ursprung and the staff at the William T. Cooke Publishing, Inc., Philadelphia.
- James Kramer, Catholic Universe Bulletin photographer, and Ray Matjasic, Cleveland Plain Dealer photographer.
